IX. MUSIC.—“When the Heart is Young,” D. Buck.

Oh! merry goes the time when the heart is young,
There's naught too high to climb when the heart is young;
A spirit of delight scatters roses in her flight,
And there's magic in the night, when the heart is young.

But weary go the feet, when the heart is old,
Time cometh not so sweet, when the heart is old;
From all that smiled and shone, there is something lost and gone,
And our friends are few or none, when the heart is old.

Oh! sparkling are the skies, when the heart is young,
There's bliss in beauty's eyes when the heart is young;
The golden break of day, brings gladness in its ray,
And ev'ry month is May, when the heart is young.

But the sun is setting fast, when the heart is old,
And the sky is overcast, when the heart is old,
Life's worn and weary bark, lies tossing wild and dark,
And the star hath left Hope's ark, when the heart is old.

Yet an angel from its sphere, tho' the heart be old,
Whispers comfort in our ear, tho' the heart be old,
Saying; “Age from out the tomb, shall immortal youth assume,
And Spring eternal bloom, where no heart is old.”

X. READING.—“Object Teaching,”
Isabel R. McDonough.

XI. MUSIC.—“Prayer from Moses,” - G. Rossini.

When life's brief dream is over,
When free from sin and sorrow,
For us may make a morrow
In realms than this more bright,

Where countless stars are gleaming,
And worlds of glory beaming,
Where sweet angelic voices
For pray'r and praise unite.

To Him, the Great Eternal,
Who rules throughout Creation,
Bow down with adoration,
His blessing humbly crave ;
Pray that His arm may guide us
To bliss beyond the grave.

- XII. ESSAY.—“Imagination as a Factor in Education,”
Eva B. Hickinbottom.

- XIII. MUSIC.—“The World's Wanderers,” G. Mangold.

Tell me, thou star, whose wings of light
Speed thee in thy fiery flight,
In what cavern of the night
Will thy pinions close now ?

Tell me, moon, thou pale and grey
Pilgrim of heaven's homeless way,
In what depth of night or day
Seekest thou repose now ?

Weary wind, who wanderest
Like the world's rejected guest,
Hast thou still some secret nest
On the tree or billow ?

- XIV. ESSAY.—“A Few Thoughts on the Drama,”
Mary B. Baldwin.

XV. MUSIC.—“With a Laugh as We Go Round,”
S. Bennett.

With a laugh as we go round
To the merry, merry sound,
Of the tabor and the pipe,
We will frolic on the green.

For since the world began,
And our royal river ran,
Was never such a May-day,
And never such a queen.

With the carol in the tree,
And the blooming on the lea,
And the riot of the bee,
Is my merry reign begun ;
And my people one and all
Shall keep revel at my call,
Till my faded garland fall
At the setting of the sun.

Was never such a May-day,
Never such a queen !

XVI. ESSAY.—“Relation of Labor to Success,”
Louise D. Amerman.

XVII. READING.—“The Sick King in Bokhara,”
Emily McGuckin.

XVIII. MUSIC.—“Friendship,” - Hasse-Hodges.

XIX. ESSAY.—“The Influence of Woman,”
Christabel Flood.

- XX. MUSIC.—“The Shades of Eve are falling,”
R. Volkmann.
- XXI. AWARD OF DIPLOMAS TO POST-GRADUATES,
President Hunter.
- XXII. ADDRESS, - - - Superintendent Jasper.
- XXIII. MUSIC.—“O, Lord Have Mercy” (1672),
A. Stradella.
- XXIV. VALEDICTORY, - - - Anna Louise Isham.
- XXV. AWARD OF MEDALS AND PRIZES,
Hon. Wm. Wood, Chairman Committee on Nor. Coll.
- XXVI. MUSIC.—“Where are the Angels, Mother?”

Where are the angels, mother?
Those beautiful forms, and bright,
Our old nurse used to tell us,
Were watching our beds at night.

Oft when the house was silent,
Have we wak'd in the pale moonlight,
And wonder'd, wonder'd, mother,
Would the angels come that night.

Day and night are they near us,
Those radiant forms ye sought,
Watching around us ever,
Tho' our eyes discern them not.

I have dream'd of their holy faces,
O'erspread with heavenly light,
Their wings like silver shining,
Their robes of spotless white.

O, mother, do those bright angels
Indeed with us abide?
It is only sin, my children,
That will drive them from our side ;

But the tear, which pure and holy,
From the penitent heart doth spring,
Those fair and loving angels
Back to our side will bring.

Oh, may good angels guard us
Till this life and its cares are past,
Then heav'nward with them bear us
To our Father's home at last.

DOXOLOGY.

Praise God from whom all blessings flow,
Praise Him all creatures here below,
Praise Him above, ye Heavenly Host,
Praise Father, Son and Holy Ghost.
