Academic Heraldry

The caps, gowns, and hoods worn by participants in these exercises are patterned after the attire of monks and students in the Middle Ages. Those who have earned the bachelor's degree wear a gown with a semistiff yoke, long pleated front, intricate shirring across the shoulders and back, and long, pointed sleeves. The holder of the master's degree wears a similar gown but the sleeve is square and closed at the end, and the wearer's forearm comes through a slit near the elbow. Those possessing the doctor's degree wear gowns with broad velvet panels down the front and three velvet bars on the full, round, open sleeves. This velvet trimming may be black or the color that represents the field of learning in which the degree was earned.

The hoods over the shoulders and down the backs reveal the wearer's highest degree and the institution that granted it. The velvet binding or edging indicates the subject to which the degree pertains. The lining of the hood, in silk, tells the color or colors of the institution granting the degrees. The shortest hood is the bachelor's; the longest and broadest is the doctor's; the master's is midway between these in size. One color may represent several colleges and universities. However, there is a standard color code for subjects. Some of the most frequently seen are:

Arts, Letters, Humanities	White	Medicine	Green
Business	Sapphire Blue	Nursing	Olive
Education	Light Blue	Philosophy	Dark Blue
Engineering	Orange	Science	Golden Yellow
Law	Purple	Theology	Scarlet
