HUNTER

The City University of New York

Greetings from the President

May 30, 2025

Welcome, Hunter family, to this joyous celebration! Whether you are, in fact, family or friend, faculty or staff, supporter or community partner—the whole community of us that has played a role in making this day possible—we all join in admiration of all that our graduates have accomplished to get to this day!

To our dear graduates: while the rest of us may have lent a hand in drawing the map to get you here today, you are the ones who blazed the trail, persevering through your studies, determined to realize your dreams and make a difference in the world. You've learned new disciplinary languages of expression—from the arts and humanities to the sciences, education, social work, nursing and health professions—found new ways to relate to peers, colleagues, and community partners, and together, explored new approaches to make societal impact in and with communities across our great city and beyond.

And that wide world really needs you right now, as people everywhere struggle to rekindle the basic human empathy that it takes for each of us to feel seen and for all in our diverse communities to thrive. You, dear graduates, have shown us that you are up to taking on that challenge. We've seen with our own eyes how you've stretched beyond your lived experience to see yourself in others, employed lenses from your classrooms, labs, and studios to see your neighborhood and those across our city from new perspectives, and lifted up the voices of those not often heard in the interest of building democracy and a more peaceful and just world.

As you use your newly earned degree to open doors to new opportunities and pour your full selves into every new challenge you face, know that we remain right there with you. We know you will keep making us as proud of you as we are today!

Congratulations!

Cordially,

Loretta J. Ross

Loretta J. Ross is a Professor at Smith College in Northampton, MA in the Program for the Study of Women and Gender. She teaches courses on white supremacy, human rights, and calling in the calling out culture. She has taught at Hampshire College and Arizona State University. She is a graduate of Agnes Scott College and holds an honorary Doctorate of Civil Law degree awarded in 2003 from Arcadia University and a second honorary doctorate degree awarded from Smith College in 2013. She also has credits towards a Ph.D. in Women's Studies from Emory University. She serves as a consultant for Smith College, collecting oral histories of feminists of color for the Sophia Smith Collection, which also contains her personal archives. Loretta also is a recipient of a MacArthur Fellowship, Class of 2022, for her work as an advocate of Reproductive Justice and Human Rights, and an inductee into the 2024 National Women's Hall of Fame.

Loretta's activism began when she was tear-gassed at a demonstration as a first-year student at Howard University in 1970. As a teenager, she was involved in anti-apartheid and anti-gentrification activism in Washington, DC as a founding member of the DC Study Group. As part of a 50-year history in social justice activism until her retirement from community organizing in 2012, she was the National Coordinator of the SisterSong Women of Color Reproductive Justice Collective from 2005–2012 and co-created the theory of Reproductive Justice in 1994.

Loretta was National Co-Director of April 25, 2004, March for Women's Lives in Washington D.C., the largest protest march in U.S. history at that time with 1.15 million participants. She founded the National Center for Human Rights Education (NCHRE) in Atlanta, Georgia from 1996–2004. She launched the Women of Color Program for the National Organization for Women (NOW) in the 1980s and was the national program director of the National Black Women's Health Project. Loretta was one of the first African American women to direct a rape crisis center in the 1970s, launching her career by pioneering work on violence against women, as the third Executive Director of the D.C. Rape Crisis Center. She is a member of the Women's Media Center's Progressive Women's Voices. Watch Makers: Women Who Make America video.

Loretta has co-written three books on reproductive justice: Undivided Rights: Women of Color Organize for Reproductive Justice in 2004; Reproductive Justice: An Introduction in March 2017; and Radical Reproductive Justice: Foundations, Theory, Practice, Critique in October 2017. Her newest book, Calling In: How to Start Making Change with Those You'd Rather Cancel is available now!

Loretta is a rape survivor, forced to raise a child born of incest, and also a survivor of sterilization abuse at age 23. She is a model of how to survive and thrive despite the traumas that disproportionately affect low-income women of color.

Loretta is a mother, grandmother, and great-grandmother.

From the Hunter College Foundation

Dear Class of 2025,

Congratulations on your incredible achievement and welcome to the Hunter College alumni community!

Today, you join a proud network of more than 170,000 Hunter graduates who, like you, have walked these halls, learned from our extraordinary faculty, and discovered their voices to make a difference in the world.

Hunter College has always been a place of opportunity, growth, and resilience—and you are now part of that enduring legacy. Whether you're starting your first job, continuing your studies, or taking time to explore your path, know that you are never alone. You are part of a vibrant, global alumni family that is here to celebrate your wins, support your career goals, and stay connected throughout life's journey.

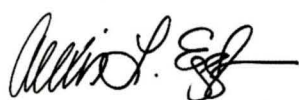

As you step into this next chapter, we hope you'll continue to live the Hunter motto, Mihi Cura Futuri — The Care of the Future is Mine. Carry forward the values of equity, inquiry, and service that defined your time here, and let them guide you as you shape your future and your community.

Staying connected to Hunter through your alumni network — especially our Young Alumni Group — offers meaningful ways to stay engaged. From career panels and social gatherings to volunteer opportunities and mentorship, there are countless ways to stay involved and make the most of this lifelong connection.

We're excited to see where your Hunter degree takes you, and we hope you'll stay in touch — attend events, share your story, and take pride in being part of a community that spans generations and industries.

Again, congratulations on your graduation. We're so proud to welcome you into the Hunter College alumni family.

Yours truly,
